DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-30 and 38-42, drawn to a picket fence, classified in class 256, subclass 22.
- II. Claims 31-37, drawn to a method of making a fence, classified in class 256, subclass 1.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions II and I are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case, the product disclosed in claims 1-30 and 38-42 could be made by another process than the method disclosed in claims 31-37. For instance, a method including the forming of a closed channel in the bottom wall.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Species

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:

Group I

Species A – fence configuration as shown in fig.1a, 1b, 1c

Species B – fence configuration as shown in fig.1d

Species C – fence configuration as shown in fig.1e

Species D – fence configuration as shown in fig.1f

Group II

Species A – embodiment of the rail as shown in fig.2a

Species B – embodiment of the rail as shown in fig.2b

Group III

Species A – embodiment of the rail as shown in fig.2c

Species B – embodiment of the rail as shown in fig.2d

Species C – embodiment of the rail as shown in fig.2e

Species D – embodiment of the rail as shown in fig.2f

Group IV

Species A – embodiment of the retaining rod as shown in fig.3a

Species B – embodiment of the retaining rod as shown in fig.3b

Species C – embodiment of the retaining rod as shown in fig.3c

Species D – embodiment of the retaining rod as shown in fig.3d

Species E – embodiment of the retaining rod as shown in fig.3e

Art Unit: 3679

Group V

Species A – embodiment of the picket as shown in figs. 5a, 5b

Species B – embodiment of the picket as shown in figs. 5c, 5d

Species C – embodiment of the picket as shown in figs. 5e, 5f

Species D – embodiment of the picket as shown in figs. 5g, 5h

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species from each group of species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The applicant is advised that chosen species should be compatible with one another in view of the disclosure to avoid having claims withdrawn from consideration by the examiner. Currently, no claims are generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the species to be examined even though the requirement is traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
